

Listen up: GHI launches GSE Expo Europe preview podcast

GHI has launched a special podcast series to preview the big stories ahead of GSE Expo Europe in Lisbon this September.

The GSE Expo Europe Podcast will feature big name interviews with leading show supporters, the IAEMA board and attending customers. Episodes will reveal some of the exclusive activities planned on stands as well as seeking insight from major OEMs on the big topics facing the market including our show themes of sustainable GSE, autonomous vehicles, safety enhancing features and equipment innovation.

The show will be co-hosted by Sophie Skinner Jones, GHI Marketing Manager, and Max Gosney, GHI Conference Chairman. Gosney said: “The Expo is founded on the principle of community and our new pod aims to be an industry forum for spreading the word about what to look out for in Lisbon. We’re also excited to interview the myriad of great characters who make up the GSE world on key market themes like electrification, automation as well as hearing more light hearted accounts of life in aviation.”
