

Sheyn debuts at Clerkenwell Design Week 2025 with two groundbreaking collections

Showcasing innovation, sustainability, and a bold collaboration at the Austrian Collection.

Vienna, Austria — March 1st, 2025.

Sheyn, the Vienna-based design studio known for its architecturally inspired 3D-printed homeware, is set to make its debut at Clerkenwell Design Week 2025. Exhibiting within the Austrian Collection at The Crypt, Stand 8, Sheyn will present two pioneering collections: The Blend Collection, featuring an exciting new design, and The Edge Collection, a boundary-breaking collaboration with London’s 2LG Studio.

The Blend Collection: Unexpected Fusion of Colours

At the heart of Sheyn’s showcase is the Blend Collection, featuring the studio’s signature vases. This striking series is defined by vivid color transitions, created through an innovative dual-tone 3D printing technique. With every angle revealing a new shade and depth, the vases capture movement within stillness. Clerkenwell Design Week will also mark the exclusive launch of the new Vint Vase series, adding a fresh dimension to the collection. Sheyn will offer visitors an exclusive look at its live manufacturing process, showcasing a 3D printer in action at the exhibition.

The Edge Collection – A Collaboration with 2LG Studio

“A fated collaboration that celebrates the true spirit of queer creativity.”

Sheyn’s partnership with acclaimed London-based 2LG Studio has resulted in The Edge Collection—a series of vases and lamps that transcend the boundaries between form and function. Designed to embody queerness, inclusivity, and intimacy, the collection is both a visual and conceptual statement, reinforcing the idea that design can be a vessel for identity and storytelling.

A Must-See at Clerkenwell Design Week 2025

With its first-ever appearance at Clerkenwell Design Week, Sheyn invites architects, interior designers, high-end boutiques, and design enthusiasts to explore its collections, witness 3D printing in action, and discover the future of sustainable homeware.

About Sheyn

Founded in 2016, Sheyn is the brainchild of designer Nicolas Gold, Zaha Hadid’s alumn, and his partner Markus Schaffer. The Vienna-based studio focuses on creating “Tiny Architecture” — intricately patterned homeware made with an architect’s attention to detail. Their collection includes vases, bowls, planters, and lighting, all crafted from a lightweight, sturdy, and recyclable corn-based compound. Each piece is 3D printed on demand at Sheyn’s studio in Vienna.
