Oscar Angel Atelier Presents Emotion-Driven Sculptural Objects at Clerkenwell Design Week 2025

Clerkenwell Design Week | May 20–22, 2025 | London, UK

Stand: G3a

Platform

70 Cowcross St, EC1M 6EJ

Artist and designer Oscar Angel will debut a new series of one-off sculptural objects at Clerkenwell Design Week 2025, offering an arresting exploration of emotion through raw material and form. Known for creating singular, hand-crafted works that blur the line between sculpture and functional design, Oscar Angel brings a deeply personal and tactile vision to one of the UK's leading design festivals.

Working with resin, metal, concrete, and wood, Oscar Angel transforms materials into memory, feeling, and narrative vessels. Each piece is a standalone object—formed not from a blueprint, but from instinct and internal landscapes. The result is a compelling collection of objects that appear grounded and ethereal, weighty yet emotionally charged.

About the Artist

Oscar Angel is a UK-based artist and designer creating one-of-a-kind sculptural objects that occupy the space between fine art and functional design. With a background in Fine Arts, Design and Forestry, their practice is grounded in material experimentation and emotional expression.
