Bow Lounge: the soft, warm and cosy armchair

Bow Lounge is a soft seating collection designed by the Yonoh Studio team, in collaboration with the new brand Pattio, for flexible spaces used for collaboration, meetings or leisure in the company that invites its members to feel comfortable, relax or work in laid-back fashion. Design and people, an armchair and sofa range that incorporates warmth, freshness and design that bring them together more and more to make work and, in turn, life more attractive, dynamic and collaborative.

The Bow Lounge program has a wide range that only keeps growing. Pattio thus offers armchairs with two backrest heights to choose from and five types of basis: four metal or wooden legs, aluminium or wooden swivel bases and a wrought iron structure. The armchairs can be one or two-seater and it has a wide variety of low tables with a warm aesthetic that match the rest of the set.

The wrought iron structure is the novelty to be found in Bow Lounge, with four steel legs made of calibrated solid bar, modelled by a traditional forging process with a furnace, and riveted and welded to provide greater structural strength.

As regards customisation and aesthetics, Bow Lounge also offers endless options: the armchairs can be upholstered in one colour or two colours, and you can choose from a wide variety of fabrics carefully selected from the most prestigious international manufacturers. Pattio has also launched the new leather comfort fabric for Bow Lounge, which has a soft and familiar finish.

The finishes of the wooden bases come in natural beech, in oak and in the great variety of lacquers Pattio offers. The metal bases also come in the same variety of colours.

The Pattio brand's Bow Lounge, therefore, creates spaces in the office, reception and rest areas...that are reminiscent of home. So that the people who sit there are comfortable and can let their emotions and creativity flow, spaces that enhance well-being and collaboration, which affects motivation and, therefore, productivity and teamwork.
