

Glove Lounge: the armchair for relaxation spaces

Pattio's new creation, Glove Lounge, is a soft seating collection that exudes well-being and relaxation at a glance. Based on the idea of seeking motivation and collaboration between people, this series was created to encourage communication and creativity with an inspiring design of sensations, besides being ergonomic and functional.

Conceived by the prestigious designer Josep Lluscà, Glove Lounge offers armchairs with low, high and high-with-headrest backrests, and three types of floor support: two swivel and one fixed. Two of the bases are also made of solid wood - beech or oak - which lends the room an air of naturalness and comfort. The other base, which is made of aluminium, offer a more sober touch to these areas of the company, contrasting with the warmth of the armchair. Besides, these armchairs come in a version with armrests and another without.

The wide choice and combination of finishes merit special mention. The extensive range of fabrics and colours available for the seat and back further expand the options for customising the armchair, which can also be upholstered in a single colour, in two colours or with a leather back. These fabrics have been carefully selected from the range offered by the most prestigious upholstery manufacturers.

An upholstered cushion to match the armchairs rounds off the large Glove Lounge family, which achieves pleasant areas with a warm, evocative aesthetic, areas for collaborative teamwork, resting, receiving visitors, relaxed meetings, etc.
