

Origin

Press Release

British Furniture Brand Origin announces their participation in this years Clerkenwell Design Week 21st - 23rd May, welcoming visitors to their stand at The Long Walk, The British Collection. Drinks will be held from 4pm on Wednesday 22nd May.

Origin will be previewing their latest product launches including The Base Collection, a range of minimally designed stools made from recycled plastic. Alongside Module, an easy to assemble shelving system designed by Danish duo Aspekt Office. As well as a host of inhouse designs including Wrap a range of Tables, Benches and a sofa design made from folded steel sheet. As well as new soft seating ideas from award winning design studio Smith Matthias.

About

Origin is a family run British company who design and manufacture contemporary furniture products for use within education, workplace, healthcare and hospitality environments.

We strive to make good design available to everyone, that's why we design quality products that both meet the demands of some of the biggest brands in the world, yet are accessible to someone starting their first cafe.

Our products are manufactured, stocked and assembled in Great Britain providing our customers with high quality products that can be easily customised and delivered within short time frame

Team

Origin was founded by Nick Pearson and later joined by son Giles Pearson. The father and son team head up the company bringing together their experience in business, engineering and design. Combining their passion for clean design aesthetics with innovations in modern production techniques to create a range of sophisticated products that are simple, useful and that reach a wide audience.