

Flooring steeped in history

Havwoods launches new Bog Oak patterns

Connecting homeowners to the rich tapestry of nature's history, leading wood surface specialist, Havwoods, has introduced new Bog Oak patterns to its Handgrade Premier collection.

Born from ancient trees that once thrived in the valleys of Europe and have subsequently fallen into peat bogs, this wood has been preserved and transformed over centuries. The range of striking new patterns including Chevron, Herringbone, Versailles, Plank and Wide Plank are now available for homeowners to choose from – with each board bearing the weight of history in its every grain.

Ranging from 3,000 to 8,000 years old, the darker the Bog Oak, the older the tree. The wood's deep, ebony hues are complemented by intricate patterns, a testament to the passage of time and the resilience of nature – it is truly wood that tells a story.

Ranging up to 4m in length and up to nearly half a metre in width for the oversize board, Handgrade Premier are specialised planks which are produced to order. Offering a high quality, high performance, pre-finished engineered board of multi-layered ply construction, the collection is designed for modern living in mind. The boards are FSC® (FSC-COO9500) Certified Timber, with the entire range being suitable for underfloor heating.

Packed with personality, the collection encompasses both the beauty of the natural world and the skilled craft of artisanal carpenters, resulting in a range of characterful products like no other. Reserved for the most discerning of design-led clients and due to the intricate nature of the products, the boards are best experienced in person to be truly appreciated.
