ROLS CARPETS PRESENTS KILT, A COLLABORATION WITH ALTHERR DÉSILE PARK

Crevillent, 2026— Rols Carpets, the Spanish designer and manufacturer of made-to-measure carpets, introduces Kilt, a collection developed in collaboration with the design studio Altherr Désile Park.

Kilt explores the infinite potential of a primary gesture: the crossing of warp and weft. Drawing from the structure of tartan, Altherr Désile Park distils a contemporary grid — one that can expand without limits, be tailored to measure, and engage in dialogue with today's architecture.

Within this open weave, variations in density, thickness and cadence orchestrate subtle shifts in expression. At times, the surface acts as a modulating whisper; at others, as a clear accent. The result is a textile language that responds to space, light and materiality, always in conversation with the rhythms of contemporary architecture.

For Altherr Désile Park — founded by Jeannette Altherr, Delphine Désile and Dennis Park — the project reflects their commitment to formal clarity, authenticity and colour as an expressive tool. Their sustainable approach informs each stage of the design process, from the selection of materials to consideration of the product's full life cycle.

With Kilt, Rols and Altherr Désile Park propose a flooring collection where structure becomes expression, and repetition becomes identity — a refined balance between tradition and modernity.
