

Siena Terrazzo New Collection

Siena Terrazzo explores warmth through a focused material approach using only yellow toned marble aggregates. The controlled palette creates gentle movement without strong contrast. Consequently, interiors feel calm, connected, and intentional. The collection supports subtle zoning and works comfortably across retail, workplace, and hospitality environments.

Siena Terrazzo introduces warmth and tonal depth to modern interiors

A focused terrazzo tile collection defined by exclusive yellow toned marble aggregates

Siena Terrazzo presents a confident new expression of contemporary terrazzo design. The series uses only yellow toned marble chips, giving the material a clear and recognisable identity. This restrained palette creates gentle surface movement while maintaining visual calm. Consequently, interiors feel warm, connected, and thoughtfully composed. Rather than relying on strong contrast, Siena explores tone, proportion, and texture. The natural variation within the marble fragments brings depth without visual noise. At the same time, the cement base structure keeps each tile balanced and architectural. Therefore, designers can introduce subtle zoning effects while sustaining a cohesive spatial flow across retail, workplace, cultural, and hospitality projects.

The collection reflects a deliberate philosophy that values continuity over distraction. Siena terrazzo tiles provide a durable and versatile interior surface for floors and walls. Moreover, the warm marble tones sit comfortably alongside pale timber, brushed metals, soft textiles, and neutral architectural finishes.

Veniston develops interior surface collections that combine Italian material heritage with a modern design sensibility.
