PRESS RELEASE

A Bold Move for Nth Degree: Clerkenwell Showroom Set to Open

Nth Degree is proud to announce the opening of its new Clerkenwell showroom this May, creating a dedicated space to showcase its premium, design-led furniture collections. The showroom has been designed to inspire, host client meetings, and provide a versatile venue for events, offering visitors a chance to experience Nth Degree's furniture in a thoughtfully curated environment.

The showroom is a massively anticipated space, over two years in the making, and represents the culmination of the brand's vision for creating inspiring, design-led environments. In fact, the name "Nth Degree" reflects this pursuit of perfection — pushing every detail to its highest potential to deliver furniture and spaces that are truly exceptional.

The space also serves as a hub for collaboration and creativity, including events for designers and interior professionals. In addition, the showroom is shared with Ecoscape UK, a sustainable surface company specialising in outdoor design solutions, allowing visitors to see how luxury indoor furniture and outdoor spaces can seamlessly complement one another.

"Participating in Clerkenwell Design Week is about celebrating design at the highest level. It's a chance for Nth Degree to be part of London's most vibrant design moment, sharing our vision with the wider creative community and positioning the brand at the forefront of contemporary interiors and outdoor living."

Nth Degree Announces Its Clerkenwell Design Week Presence

The launch of Nth Degree's Clerkenwell showroom coincides with Clerkenwell Design Week, one of the UK's most influential design events. For Nth Degree, participating in this week is a strategic move: Clerkenwell is the epicentre of London's design scene, attracting architects, interior designers, and design-savvy homeowners from across the globe. It provides the perfect platform to introduce Nth Degree's premium furniture collections to an engaged, design-conscious audience, highlighting the brand's expertise in both interiors and luxury outdoor living.

By launching during Design Week, Nth Degree positions the showroom as more than a retail space — it becomes a destination for inspiration, exploration, and collaboration. Visitors can experience the furniture in carefully styled settings, see how pieces complement each other in real-life contexts, and discover how indoor and outdoor spaces can be harmoniously integrated. The shared space with Ecoscape UK, specialists in sustainable outdoor surfaces, allows the brand to present a holistic vision of contemporary living, blending elegance, functionality, and environmental responsibility.

The Clerkenwell showroom opens at 82 Clerkenwell Road from 19th May, inviting designers, homeowners, and design enthusiasts to explore, be inspired, and experience first-hand how Nth Degree elevates interiors and outdoor spaces through design-led furniture.

ABOUT NTH DEGREE

At Nth Degree, we believe great design starts with a feeling. A sense of calm, connection, and understated elegance that quietly transforms a space. Born from a passion for interiors and a love of outdoor living, we create environments that blur the lines between inside and out—timeless, tactile, and effortlessly inviting.

We're more than a furniture brand. We're curators of space, mood, and lifestyle—bringing together pieces that feel considered, lived-in, and beautifully intentional. Every collection is guided by our creative eye and grounded in our belief that luxury should never feel untouchable. Our approach is rooted in design, but led by emotion. From sculptural silhouettes to soft, tonal finishes, everything we choose reflects a deeper purpose: to elevate the everyday and create lasting spaces where stories are shared and memories are made.

"After two years of planning, our Clerkenwell showroom is finally ready. It's a space where every piece of furniture is brought to life, where visitors can wander, touch, and experience our collections in a setting that reflects the essence of Nth Degree — refined, functional, and inspiring."
