Fenabel Debuts at Clerkenwell Design Week 2026 with New Seating Collections

the heart of seating

Portuguese furniture manufacturer Fenabel will make its debut at Clerkenwell Design Week 2026, the UK's leading design event, presenting a refined selection of seating solutions tailored for hospitality and contract environments.

With a heritage rooted in early 20th-century craftsmanship, Fenabel has grown from a small artisanal workshop in Rebordosa, Portugal, into an internationally recognised brand. Founded in 1992 to support global expansion, the company seamlessly combines traditional woodworking techniques with advanced manufacturing technologies, delivering both large-scale production and bespoke solutions.

At this year's festival, Fenabel will showcase two standout pieces: the Ondina Chair, designed by CarlesiTonelli, and the Berry Armchair, developed by the Fenabel Design Studio.

Inspired by maritime and organic forms, the Ondina Chair captures the fluidity and movement of nature through expressive lines and visual lightness. Balancing elegance with durability, it is designed to meet the demands of high-traffic hospitality spaces while maintaining a strong, refined identity.

The Berry Armchair offers a harmonious blend of contemporary and traditional influences. Drawing inspiration from the Cotswold aesthetic, it features organic lines, highlighted wood detailing, and an enveloping form with integrated arms. Its versatile character allows it to adapt seamlessly across a wide range of interior styles.

Both designs were previously introduced at Salone del Mobile 2026 and now mark Fenabel's entry into the UK market through Clerkenwell Design Week.

Fenabel's latest collections reflect the brand's ongoing commitment to innovation, craftsmanship, and sustainability. Wood remains central to its identity, carefully selected and shaped into durable, high-quality pieces, while upholstery is developed with equal attention to texture, comfort, and form. All production processes are managed in-house, ensuring consistency and rigorous quality control.

2026 represents a milestone year for the company, marked by an expanded international presence, the launch of the Essence catalogue—focused on wellness-oriented environments—and the reedition of the Legacy catalogue, celebrating some of Fenabel's most iconic designs. The ongoing expansion of its headquarters further underscores its commitment to growth and future development.

“Clerkenwell Design Week represents an important moment for Fenabel as we continue to expand internationally. It's an opportunity to present our design approach—where craftsmanship meets innovation—to a new audience and to strengthen our presence in the UK market.

Carla Gomes, CMO
