

Herman Miller's Aeron iconic office chair

The Aeron chair first launched in 1994 and was unlike any chair the world had ever seen. Instead of a padded throne, designers Bill Stumpf and Don Chadwick did away with foam and fabric to create a true machine for sitting.

The Aeron Chair is Herman Miller's top-selling seating solution and has received a variety of awards and recognition, including the Good Design Award (GDA) from the Chicago Athenaeum Museum of Architecture and Design, FIRA (Furniture Industry Research Association) award, the IDSA Designs of the Decade award, and is part of the permanent collection of MOMA. It was also the company's first product to receive the industry-leading Cradle to Cradle V3 Silver Level certification, assessed on environmental and social performance.

Its innovative design and support for a range of postures, activities, and body types, has made and kept Aeron an icon. Aeron's three sizes—A, B, and C—were precisely designed to welcome a wide range of body types. Three chair sizes mean the most comfort to the largest range of users. Breathable fabric keeps you cool and comfortable while sitting. Aeron is available also in two stool heights.

Aeron Chair offers four color options: Mineral (light grey), Carbon (medium grey), Graphite (dark grey) and Onyx (dramatic black).
