

A fresh new look for Lundia Classic

Wood for warmth, glass for light. Lundia has launched a new addition to their Classic shelving range: ripple effect glass doors that add a playful sense of light and style to the warmth and solidity of the wooden frame. The gently undulating glass catches the light, concealing as it reveals. The eye is drawn to the door itself and the space beyond it.

The glass doors can be added to an existing Lundia piece to give it an updated new look or included as a feature on a brand-new set of shelves. With a subtle nod to the 70s, the doors transform the shelving, creating a completely new style statement.

This is the essence of the Lundia philosophy: furniture that is built to last and will continue to change and evolve through the years along with your style. Add glass doors to turn your shelves into a sleek and stylish display cabinet. Later, you can transform it again, perhaps into a set of drawers or even a desk for your home office.

The glass panels are provided to us by a local specialist supplier, and all doors are assembled to order at our own in-house facility. There is a short wait involved with our doors, but we think it is more than worth it, as it allows us to work sustainably and eliminate wastage.
