WHO WE ARE

Established in 1912 in Moknine, in the heart of Tunisia's Sahel region, the Loued family has cultivated a deep-rooted passion for olive oil across five generations. More than a business, olive oil is a legacy passed down with pride, refined over time, and shared with care.

From our groves to your table, we oversee every step of the process with meticulous attention and unwavering dedication to excellence. Our mission is simple yet demanding: to meet the highest international standards while remaining faithful to the authentic character of this noble product.

Our olives are hand-harvested at peak ripeness never treated with pesticides to ensure healthy fruit, protect the longevity of the tree, and preserve the full range of the olive's aromatic complexity.

On the same day, the olives are transported in ventilated crates to our modern mills. There, they are carefully sorted, defoliated, washed with clean water, then crushed and gently mixed. The oil is extracted by cold pressing, a method that preserves the natural flavour, freshness, and nutritional richness of the fruit.

Our extraction process relies on the latest generation of stainless-steel equipment, and the oil is then stored in underground ceramic vats a traditional method that ensures stable preservation and guarantees a product of uncompromising quality.
