Museums & performing arts

"We used Stratum to floor the corridors and they did a great job. We chose them for the main space after James' thorough prep before we committed to the job. The on-site team were a pleasure and worked tirelessly to resurface the floor in the allocated time. We're over the moon with the result. It's never looked better."

– Ruth Butler | Head of Technical and Production | Roundhouse, Camden

Creating the right ambience without attracting too much attention is key to flooring a performing arts space or museum. We offer attractive, smart and surprising flooring, with exceptional functionality, mechanical strength and low maintenance.

Museums and performing arts venues are subject to intensive use by millions of shuffling feet, day in, day out as well as heavy loads from equipment and installations. Our flooring is easy to clean and can handle the load, year after year.

Bolidtop 525 and FiftyFifty are perfect for museums or performing arts buildings with exceptional sound reduction from the Combi system. Products are available with a textured or textureless anti-slip coating and for back of house or delivery areas we recommend the durable and wear resistant Bolidtop 700, 500 RF or 200 RF.

Some images have been supplied by Bolidt for commercial use. For further details please contact info@stratum.uk.com
