ROOFING

Welsh Slate is recognised as the best quality roofing slate in the world and will give you a roof that will last more than a lifetime.

Its extraordinary geology gives it unique physical properties and combined with generations of skilled quarrymen, creates a roofing slate which has been tested over the centuries.

We only produce a first quality roofing slate of the highest standard; three colour choices, three thickness grades, one quality.

HARD LANDSCAPING

Welsh Slate can be used for a wide variety of domestic or commercial landscaping applications; paving, walling, coping stones, rockery & features stones and decorative aggregates.

The natural beauty of Welsh Slate provides colour, texture and unique practical qualities for any hard landscaping project.

EXTERIORS

Welsh Slate is the perfect natural exterior construction product. It's non-porous, exceptionally uniform, inert, non-combustible and probably the most adaptable material for the widest range of exterior applications.

Welsh Slate is easily maintained and hard wearing, making it perfect for exterior construction applications. Available in various colours and finishes, with exquisite naturally occurring veining and textures that create an added dimension to any application.

INTERIORS

The versatility, sophistication, and durability of Welsh Slate make it the surface material of choice for so many architects, designers, and homeowners.

Welsh Slate is practical, easily maintained, and beautiful and is used in interiors for its natural beauty, hard-wearing properties and uniqueness.

The subtle and elegant colours of natural slate brings drama and elegance and works equally well in cutting-edge contemporary interiors or traditional heritage applications.

AGGREGATES & MINERALS

Welsh Slate is a major supplier of high-quality aggregates, specialist sand and secondary aggregates to the construction industry.

We supply decorative aggregates in three colours and 2 sizes and also supply construction aggregates for a range of core applications; from fill materials to aggregates that serve the precast, road building, civil engineering and house building sectors.

Welsh Slate minerals has many outstanding technical properties and is used widely in a number of manufacturing processes and is available in two grades and various colours.
