World Leading Natural Thin Stone Veneers

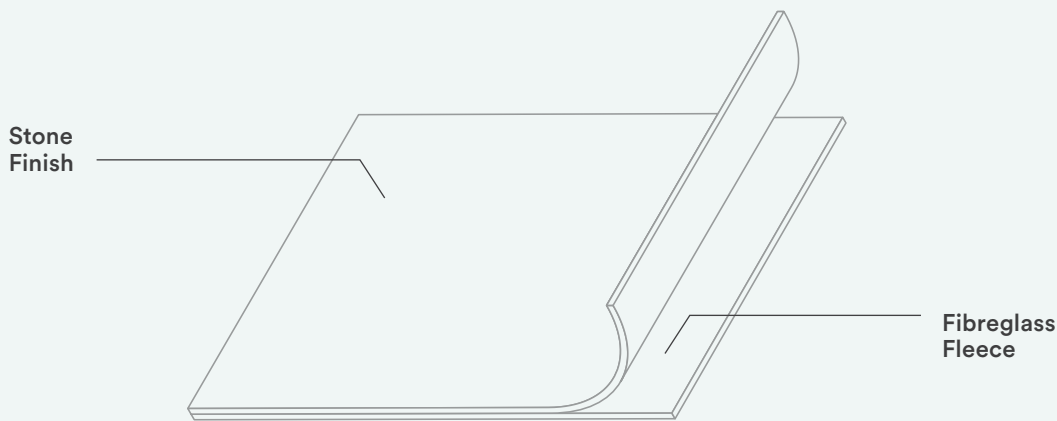

Our latest innovative 'on a roll' products are offering interior and architectural designers a beautiful range of textured, tactile and creative stone and concrete flexible coverings with the illusion of a solid surface but without the weight and restrictions.

New Possibilities

Flexible sheets offer both the commercial and domestic markets a wide variety of applications, with the ability to wrap around any solid structure; columns and pillars, walls, ceilings, furniture and objects of any size can be covered in our beautiful natural coverings.

New Generation

Earth Anatomy's 'on a roll' is a new generation of surfacing material; thin, light and flexible, our rolls can transform ordinary surfaces into tactile statements. With easy transportation and installation, there are savings on both time, expense and the natural environment.

On A Roll

On a roll is manufactured from 95% quarry waste stone material and is bound together with natural binders, to create a uniquely flexible stone finish. British made, by hand, this versatile product gives the creative mind the ability to interpret concrete in a completely new way; by bending and curving up to 90 degrees, you can apply it to any surface, within those tricky to reach places. Each flexible sheet is 2mm thick and can be used internally and externally and is ideal for kitchens and bathrooms.

Part of a Bigger Range

This stone veneer range is part of an exciting and innovative product mix created by Earth Anatomy, an MWC company. The MWC group of companies have been delivering bespoke, on trend and creative products for nearly 60 years. Working with stone, bamboo, concrete, marble, solid surfaces and traditional timbers, they are market leaders within their field.
