Providing support, expert advice, guidance, and high-quality support materials, we prepare your apprentices for success giving them the confidence to reach for that distinction.

Don't just take our word for it, read what some of our partners have to say:

“ From the beginning of our relationship with Qualsafe Awards we have been met with excellent standards of customer care and practice through key points of contact and regular updates along the process in terms of contracting and assessment methods so that we could prepare apprentices on programme.

Qualsafe also provide a fully mapped out and robust process of a learner journey both in terms of expectations at End-Point assessment and how the apprentice can be informed throughout the whole apprenticeship with regards to EPA. Our learners have a clear focus, enabling those who are able to be stretched and challenged to achieve their potential. A key requirement of OFSTED for training providers. ”

Mathew Woodhead
Director
Basegreen Academy Limited

“ We chose Qualsafe Awards for numerous reasons, but in the main due to their fantastic reputation and for leading the first aid and prehospital industry with ground-breaking qualifications. We moved to delivering QA Prehospital qualifications and then using them for our End-Point Assessments, and the service received from them has been exceptional. As a centre new to delivering apprenticeships I have found the support received from QA to be invaluable...nothing has been too much trouble for them. ”

Ambulance Support Worker

Who is this apprenticeship standard for?

This apprenticeship is ideal for those taking their first steps in an emergency and urgent care role, supporting registered and non-registered healthcare professionals in a non-clinical capacity. This could include driving an ambulance while a paramedic looks after the patient or transporting non-critical patients.

Programme Structure

This apprenticeship will take approximately one year to complete. During this time the apprentice will learn about patient care, safely driving ambulance vehicles, assisting with delegated clinical tasks and interventions alongside soft skills such as working as part of a team, effective communication and conflict resolution.

With the knowledge, skills and behaviours gained through this apprenticeship, successful individuals will be competent and job ready as an Ambulance Support Worker.

End Point Assessment Methods

The End Point Assessment consists of:

1. Simulated Observations
2. A Professional Discussion

Both are equally weighted and can be undertaken in any order. The apprentice does not have to pass one before being able to undertake the other.

Qualifications

Apprentices will need to complete two mandatory qualifications covering ambulance care and ambulance driving (emergency or non-emergency), with the combination being selected based on the specific role (this standard supports four different role types).

One accredited level 3 ambulance care qualification, from:

- QA Level 3 Diploma in Ambulance Emergency and Urgent Care Support (RQF)
- Certificate in Ambulance Patient Care: Urgent Care Services
- Award in Ambulance Patient Care: Non-Urgent Care Services
- Certificate in Ambulance Patient Care: Non-Urgent Care Services

and;

One accredited ambulance driving qualification, from:

- Qualsafe Level 3 Certificate in Emergency Response Ambulance Driving (RQF)
- Level 3 Award in Patient Care Services: Ambulance Driving
- Legacy IHCD driving awards for Emergency and non-emergency driving will be accepted where candidates can demonstrate current and relevant driving experience.

Associate Ambulance Practitioner (AAP)

Who is this apprenticeship standard for?

Ideal for those who want to work as part of the emergency and urgent care setting – providing high quality and compassionate care while working as part of an ambulance crew responding to 999 calls. Working at a level above that of Healthcare Support Workers, the AAP will assess, treat, and manage service users at the scene and either refer them to alternative care provisions, where treatment lies outside of their scope, or safely discharge them on scene.

Programme Structure

The apprenticeship lasts between 12 to 18 months, with candidates expected to be ready for Gateway at 13 months. During this period, candidates will gain a variety of skills, including airway, respiratory and circulatory management, use of medical gases, promoting mental health and wellbeing, and much more. In addition, they will gain soft skills such as effective communication, conflict resolution, and working closely and collaboratively with others.

This structure and the knowledge, skills, and behaviours apprentices will gain during this time meet the full apprenticeship standard set out by NENAS, which is widely accepted within ambulance services for the role of Associate Ambulance Practitioner.

End-Point Assessment Methods

The End-Point Assessment consists of:

Area Assessed	Method of Assessment

Positive experiences from FREC® learners

“ I found the course excellent. There was a mix of learning, teaching and assessment methods that kept the sessions interesting and at a good pace.

I'll be using new skills both in my work as a ski patroller and the new knowledge and insight will help greatly with my other role as a Qualsafe First Aid trainer.

I was able to put new skills to the test last weekend when a guest at the ski centre collapsed in the restaurant. ”

Skippy, FREC4 learner
Trained with Polaris Medical

“ I chose the FREC3 course so that I could do events work. I am a qualified Nurse, but taking the FREC3 has given me valuable prehospital skills that mean I can deliver safe and effective care in a different setting. I particularly enjoyed the Trauma days, as this is an area I have little experience in. [The trainer] combined simulation and theory to promote learning, and encouraged teamwork and communication throughout.

I thoroughly enjoyed (and recommend!) FREC3, and I hope to be soon to progress to FREC4. ”
