MEDIA SIMULATION AND TRAINING

Welcome to the world's leading media simulation company

Crown Media can help you stress test your strategic communications in a safe and secure environment.

Using real journalists and social media experts we bring exercises and training to life with broadcast-quality television bulletins, radio news, online articles and convincing social media. Everything is tailored to fit your exercise scenarios and delivered on secure, realistic news and social media websites.

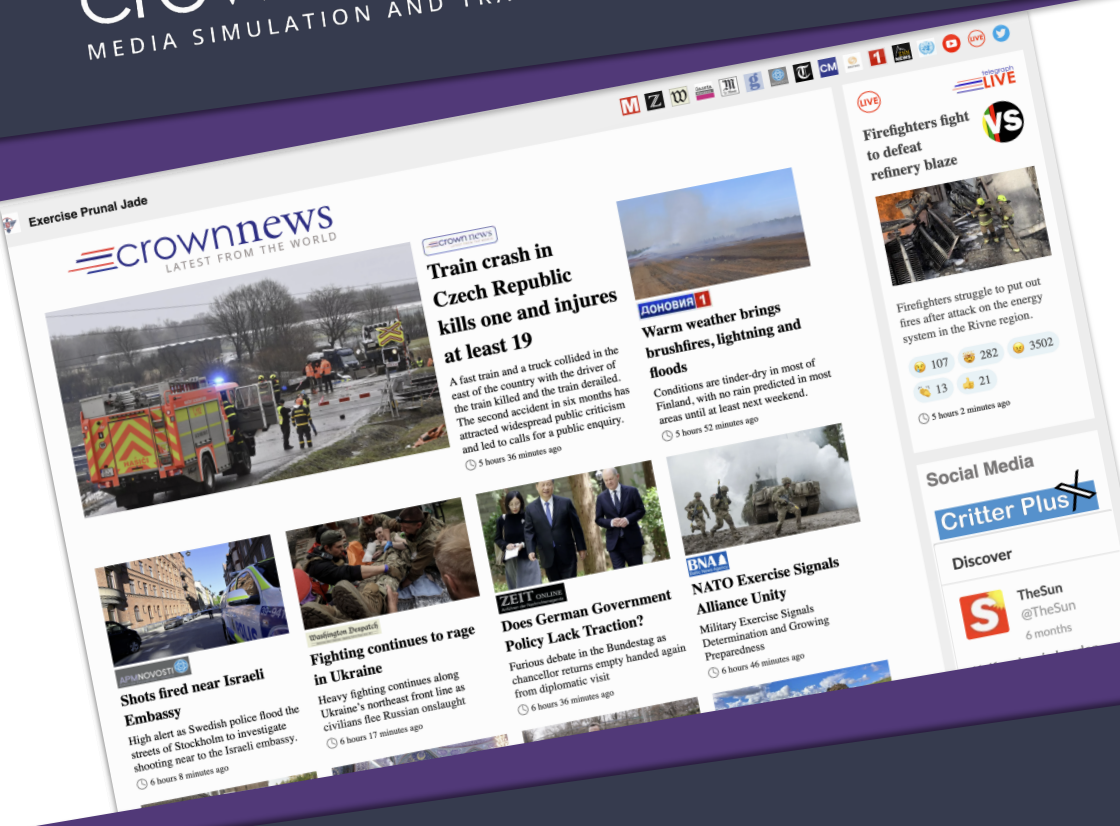

Our team of more than 100 journalists and technicians, most of whom are security cleared, are trusted by prestigious organisations, including NATO, the British Government, UK Ministry of Defence, German Bundeswehr and dozens of others, to prepare personnel for real world communication dilemmas.
