Repair Your Footwear

The carbon footprint of the footwear industry is truly massive in size. it is estimated that some 330 million pairs of shoes are sold each year within the UK alone. Sadly, most of these end up in landfills, with conservative estimates suggesting that the average pair takes more than 50 years to fully decompose (Source: Business Green 2019).

Everyone can double the life of their shoes by carrying out one sole and heel repair, this could potentially reduce the amount of footwear going into landfill by an incredible 50%.
