When it counts

CHOOSE BBX

Protection [stopping power]

Protection of people and critical assets is at the heart of the BBX philosophy. Its innovative design allows for superior protection in a thinner, lighter material than traditional concrete. BBX prevents ballistic penetration by holding the shell within itself and reduces spalling injuries caused by blast shock waves, while maintaining its structural integrity.

Flexibility [energy absorption]

BBX is a construction product which can be tailored to meet wide-ranging client specifications. Its composition and properties allow it to absorb large amounts of energy and to flex under force, dissipating energy through the product. Its elastic properties mean it recoils to its original shape following impact without fracture or failure.

BBX has one simple purpose, Survival.

A discreet block construction system which provides multi-protection against blast, ballistic, fire and breach threats.

Uniquely certified to C15 blast resistance and BR7 ballistic resistance standards, amongst the highest achievable.

Despite its unique capabilities, BBX is installed using normal construction methods and tools with the fast thin joint mortar system, ensuring that maximum security and protection is provided along with optimal, efficient installations. Find out more on stand B50.
