

For immediate release

Asolvi launches German language website

Asolvi is pleased to announce that it has now launched a brand-new German language website – www.asolvi.com/de. The site will provide news, product information and market insight to customers, partners and prospective customers across the DACH region. This launch follows on from the highly successful launch of its new English language website in September 2020.

In November 2020, Asolvi strengthened its position across the DACH market and enhanced its native-language customer support with the acquisition of fire and security field service management specialist Tivapp. The launch of the new website, coupled with the acquisition, ably demonstrates the strategic importance of the DACH region for Asolvi's business.

Commenting on the launch of the new site, Tony Milford, Chief Sales & Marketing Officer at Asolvi, said "The DACH region is one where Asolvi already has a significant presence across the copy / print and fire & security markets. We also see further strong potential for further growth in the region. The launch of this website is further evidence of our commitment to our customers and partners in the region".

ENDS

For all enquiries, please contact:

Colin Eade, Marketing Communications Manager - colin.eade@asolvi.com