

CDVI Announces New Features to ATRIUM Access Control

High Wycombe, UK, February 13, 2020 – CDVI, a leading access control manufacturer worldwide, announced new innovative features to its ATRIUM Access Control solution to be showcased at The Security Event. Those new features, such as the lockdown option and the integration with Texecom's intruder alarms, made the ATRIUM even more successful in 2019 with nominations to the Fire and Security Excellence Awards, the Outstanding Security Performance Awards and the Professional Security Institute Awards.

"Our Access Control has been developed alongside market trends and wants over the past few years. ATRIUM is a very responsive and flexible online access control solution allowing installers and end users to always get the best value out of the system." – Daniel Phillips, Product Manager.

New features

Lockdown, Invacuation and Evacuation

Thanks to innovation in the software and web interface, ATRIUM allows for optimal control of complicated and sensitive situations in public buildings. Areas can be marked as safe by rescue teams after the lockdown feature has been activated, making the invacuation or evacuation of the building safe and efficient.

Texecom Intruder Alarm integration

The recent CDVI's ATRIUM / Texecom intrusion alarm integration enables users to benefit from a convenient, reliable and cost-effective integrated security system, managing both access control and intruder alarms. Setting up only one system and deciding all alarm features via the ATRIUM software and app allows for reduced installation time and on-site labour costs.
