The Procurement Act 2023 Supporting Your Procurement Journey

The public sector spends approximately £300 billion annually on public procurement.

This spending covers a wide range of areas, including:

- Goods: Office equipment, hospital beds, etc.
- Services: Adult social care, waste management, technology services, and more.
- Works: Building and maintenance of roads, schools, and major infrastructure projects.

Benefits of the Procurement Act 2023

The development of the Procurement Act 2023 brings new advantages to both suppliers and buyers:

- Cutting Red Tape: Streamlining processes and encouraging innovation.
- Improved Transparency: Greater clarity and openness in procurement practices.
- Faster Competition Processes: Especially for emergency purchases.
- Simplified Processes: Making it easier for SMEs to bid for contracts and engage with the public sector.
