RAMPART™ COLOR-CODED TRAUMA SYSTEM

by SAFEGUARDMEDICAL™

RAMPART [ram-pahrt] noun: A defensive wall to protect the people; anything serving as a defense.

Stress during trauma situations results in a lack of concentration and focus, which ultimately puts a patient's life at greater risk. As a result, Safeguard Medical asked an important question:

How can we deliver on our vision to simplify emergency medicine so that all responders have the confidence and tools to intervene to preserve life, all while countering the body's physiological response to trauma?

THE ANSWER. The RAMPART™ System—an innovative, yet simple color-coded trauma care system that empowers first responders at all levels while helping reduce the stress and uncertainty that can stand in the way of life-saving care.

Hemorrhage Control	Airway Management	Respiration	Circulation	Burn Treatment	Head & Hypothermia

ORDER IS EVERYTHING. The icons in the RAMPART System are anything but random. They're displayed in the order that aligns with universal treatment protocols for trauma. This serves as an important reminder of which injury to treat first to increase the chances of survival.

COLORS

SPEAK LOUDER THAN WORDS.

Color is believed to be the most important visual experience to human beings and functions as a powerful information channel to the human cognitive system... playing a significant role in enhancing memory performance.¹ That's the power of the RAMPART System.

By arranging products by color and aligning them with an icon, it's faster and easier for individuals to choose the right product, at the right time, for the right treatment—and preserve life. The strategically chosen colors and icons are designed to stimulate the limbic area of the brain, which aids in memory retention, making it easier to focus on critical life-saving skills and improve patient outcomes.
