Facing a force
of nature...

naturally we have
the solution.

When a typhoon hit Hong Kong, we made sure it didn't impact our client's schedule. After carefully watching events and cancellations from 6,000 miles away, we got in touch to let them know that a storm was about to disrupt their travel plans. After arranging alternative flights, we kept a keen eye on events to ensure a seamless journey home. No matter how far you travel, no matter what time of the day or night, with Reed & Mackay you're never on your own.

We'll move
heaven, earth...

and sometimes
the sun.

Seating preferences are highly personal. So when we discovered one of our clients didn't like flying with the sun on his side of the plane, we knew we would have to move the sun for him. Sound complicated? Not when you know how. Yet it makes a big difference to our travellers – helping them stay cool, calm, collected and ready for business. If it matters to you, it matters to us. It's that simple.

We never make a mountain out
of a problem...

even if the problem
is a mountain.

At Reed & Mackay we do everything we can to get our clients where they need to be. However, there are some things even we can't foresee. Like the client whose case went wandering. A case that contained a very important suit for a very important meeting. Disaster? We didn't think so, we simply noted down his measurements and had a sharp new suit delivered to his destination – in the middle of nowhere, on top of a mountain, without any road. How did we do it? Now that would be telling.

It isn't easy
to obtain a visa when the embassy
is closed...

fortunately, we have the key.

Imagine the frustration. You need a visa issuing from an African embassy by Friday, but none are given out that day. And to compound the problem, you need your passport for an important meeting in New York the day after. An impossible situation? Not when you have the right connections. After a quick call to a key contact within the embassy, we managed to secure our client a visa in time for his next journey. Easy, when you know who.
