Return to travel planning

As business travel re-emerges, the wealth of COVID-19 travel safety data, advisories, restrictions and procedures can be overwhelming.

The CWT Travel Essentials site helps your employees plan their trip effectively by providing preliminary information about restrictions and procedures of a country in one convenient location.

With a range of query options, information can be sourced according to the traveler's origin, destination, passport, travel dates and vaccination status.

Give employees a holistic view

Country Information – with many countries and regions imposing travel bans and restrictions on who can enter or exit, employees will have access to border status.

Domestic Information - with differing travel bans and restrictions within countries, you can search for domestic travel restrictions and procedures for the United States, Canada and Australia.

Connection Information – used to show transit restrictions for itineraries with international connections.

Restrictions - used to describe policies imposed by a country or region that restrict certain groups of people from traveling.

Procedures – used to describe medical, health, safety or other procedures that are imposed by a government.
