

This marks the start of a great new collaboration between Blue Aran and Eminence, making Eminence more accessible, and more competitively priced in the UK.

Eminence was the first speaker brand I ever used, back in 1992 when I started building my own speakers. In 1995 when I started Blue Aran, Eminence was the first product I started selling, and using in my own cabinet designs. Over the years I have been a strong supporter of the Eminence Brand, being the first company in the UK to offer Eminence for sale online via our website in 2002. It seems only natural for Blue Aran to be a distributor for Eminence, and we are proud to be representing them in the UK and Ireland.
