Exploring New Horizons with Innovative Solutions

The SPE Annual Technical Conference and Exhibition (ATCE) is the premier global gathering for energy professionals advancing the future of exploration and production. ATCE 2026 brings together the people, ideas, and technologies that are exploring new horizons and delivering innovative solutions across the energy industry. From breakthrough technical insights to real-world applications, ATCE is where expertise meets innovation—and where progress takes shape.

Join thousands of professionals from across the upstream and broader energy ecosystem in Houston, the heart of the energy industry, from 21–23 October 2026. Through cutting-edge technical sessions, a world-class exhibition, and unparalleled networking opportunities, ATCE 2026 empowers you to collaborate, innovate, and help shape what's next for energy.
