

Cindy Taff has over 35 years in the O&G industry, most recently as VP of Shell's global Unconventional Wells operations. She led a team of over 350 Shell staff and 1200 contractors across five countries, accountable for an annual spend of $1 billion. Cindy is the CEO of Sage Geosystems, a growing company based in Houston providing solutions for both energy storage and geothermal base production deep in the earth.