I'm no Cactus expert but I know
a Big Prick when I see one!

These funny plant markers are new to my range of decorative pieces made from recycled materials. I work with industry off-cuts of brass, so it's someone else's waste which I think, quite frankly, is too good to waste.

They are individually hand cut and stamped, so they've all got a lovely handcrafted feel and look about them.

Soldered onto thick copper wire stems, they can be poked into any plant pot and would make a perfect gift for the green fingered, gardening obsessed, plant lover in your life.
