Jennifer Court Art & Illustration

About the Artist

Hello! I'm Jennifer, a pen artist and illustrator based in Edinburgh. I'm passionate about bringing famous buildings and hidden gems to life with pen and ink – capturing intricate detail and unique character for others to cherish and enjoy.

Because of the detail involved in my work, a drawing can take anywhere between 30 to 80 hours to complete; each drawing is a true labour of love.

I create high quality products with my drawings, all from either Scottish or UK suppliers, using ethical and recycled materials where possible. My designs are unique and capture the individuality of Scottish architecture, exploring the character and history reflected in the facades of our historic buildings.

“ Commissioning Jennifer has been a joy. The process was smooth and to schedule from start to finish, with great communication and supply of files exactly as required from original image to details and even packaging. Jennifer’s work looks amazing across our product range and is proving a big hit with customers. I highly recommend her! ”

Your Own Bespoke Commission

Commissioning a specific drawing, building or location provides a unique and personal way to promote your brand to your customer base. I work closely with clients to ensure that their exact specifications and brief are met. This allows me to deliver a range of products that promote the location of interest in a unique and timeless manner.

There are two main avenues for commissions; in both I create the drawing and the client can then decide whether they use the design with my own product range, or whether to buy the license for the drawing and produce the products themselves.

Glenturret Distillery, Crieff

Commission 'Starter Pack' includes:

- Site visit to photograph and discuss the details of the drawing with the client.
- Completion of A3/A4 sized drawing of the location (an average drawing of this sizes takes around 40 hours to complete).
- 50 complimentary greetings cards or postcards of the design included with the package.

Once the drawing is complete and the scan of the drawing is ready to use, there are two options to choose from:

Option 1: The customer uses my own range of products with their bespoke design. With this option there is a minimum product order of £200. The original drawing is not included in the package, however this and the purchase of the license to use on other products is negotiable. Cost of package: £220

Option 2: The customer buys the license for the drawing and uses it for products out with my range. The original drawing not included in the package, however this is negotiable. Cost of package: £350
