about us

Hello, Castle Apothecary Scotland is an artisan Scottish botanical skincare brand steeped in Scotland's rich natural heritage. Inspired by the plants which surround our historical home and a passion for quality and sustainable ingredients, many are sourced from Scottish and British growers.

With 25 years' professional clinical aromatherapy experience and as a natural perfumer, I started experimenting with these after bearing the brunt of harsh sanitisers and soaps during COVID-19, creating natural soaps, lotions, creams and balms for home use, testing and using them on my children.

They love the products as much as customers who return to buy more. We love using them at home.

Alison MacColl, Founder
BSc CT (Aromatherapy),
Natural Perfumer & Educator

We do not use palm oil or artificial foaming agents as they irritate my hands. Instead, we use eco-friendly and sustainable premium natural skin-loving ingredients, from oils and butters to natural botanicals.

We'd love to be completely plastic free, but for safe use at home, the 250ml pump bottles are made with min 30% recycled PET.

Bar soaps are wrapped in biodegradable cellophane. Packaging can be reused, repurposed or recycled.

By choosing locally grown ingredients (where possible), we not only contribute to the economy, but also support sustainable farming practices and reduce our carbon footprint.

Each product is handcrafted in small batches in the Castle Apothecary with natural skin-loving ingredients with the aim of helping dry and sensitive skin.

We're thrilled with the journey so far and we'd like you to be involved. If our brand values align with yours, we'd be thrilled to collaborate with you.
