

CAMPBELLS

CAMPBELLS

Pure Butter Shortbread

In 1830, in the small highland village of Callander,
Donald Campbell baked his first trays of rich golden shortbread.

Now, over 190 years and seven generations later, this internationally famous small village bakery is Scotland's oldest bakery business and is still in the same Campbell family.

Campbells Shortbread continues to be made with nothing less than the finest natural ingredients, crafted to a recipe passed down through time.

MACDONALDS Gift Tins

Traditional Shortbread to suit every taste

From classic to cute and quirky we cater for all tastes, with a range of charming packaging styles based around iconic Scottish themes, with the same delicious top quality baking inside.

Shy of 200 years, not shy of anything else!

Callander, Perthshire, Scotland. 1830. Donald Campbell bakes his first tray of rich golden shortbread. Seven generations later the same family is still baking the highest quality shortbread for Scotland, Europe, the World.

Pure Butter. Pure Delight

We use 100% pure butter in all our baking. No scrimping. And no artificial colours, flavours or preservatives. All our products are totally OK for vegetarians. Our packaging is a pure delight. From decorative to quirky, traditional tartan to cute or seasonal, we maintain a range that appeals to different tastes and different reasons to buy. Our variety of shapes is equally extensive from fingers to rounds, petticoat tails and squares to ovals. We're constantly working on refreshing the range and producing innovative, cheerful new lines that come in cartons and tins of all sizes to match all budgets from the generous gift to the picnic pack.
