BRITISH WOOL

Marton Mills proudly introduces the British Wool Collection, woven entirely in Yorkshire using 100% British wool and certified under Shepherd's Crook Mark.

As long-standing weavers of woollen fabrics, we have alway championed the natural properties of wool: durability, thermo-regulation and fire-retardancy. Using British wool not only provides material benefits, but drives positive change in the UK farming industry. Supporting British sheep farmers allows us to work with local manufacturers and reduce our carbon footprint.

This collection celebrates everything that British wool can offer, while providing quality assurance of British origin, from field to fabric.

LEATHLEY

Our Leathley collection celebrates the beauty of British wool with classic staple designs, using undyed browns and muted greys that echo the Yorkshire landscape where the cloth is created.

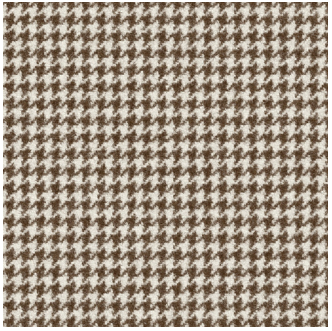

Crafted using wool sourced and produced within a 50-mile radius of our mill and finishers, Leathley carries the lowest carbon footprint of all our fabrics. A blend of the lustrous Bluefaced Leicester and the hardy Masham, this beautifully soft fabric redefines what British wool can be.

Naturally versatile, Leathley is woven to last, rooted in tradition yet perfectly suited to modern life.

BRIMHAM

A vibrant evolution of Leathley, our new quality Brimham provides a fresh perspective on British wool.

Named after the sculptural rocks of Brimham, the collection is inspired by the dynamic climbing routes that weave across them. Building on the tones of Leathley, Brimham introduces bold colours to give the cloth a contemporary and energetic edge.

These bright shades are fully farm traceable, allowing you to see the British farmers behind your cloth. Brimham celebrates both joyful expression and the farmers behind the wool.

FROM FIELD TO FABRIC

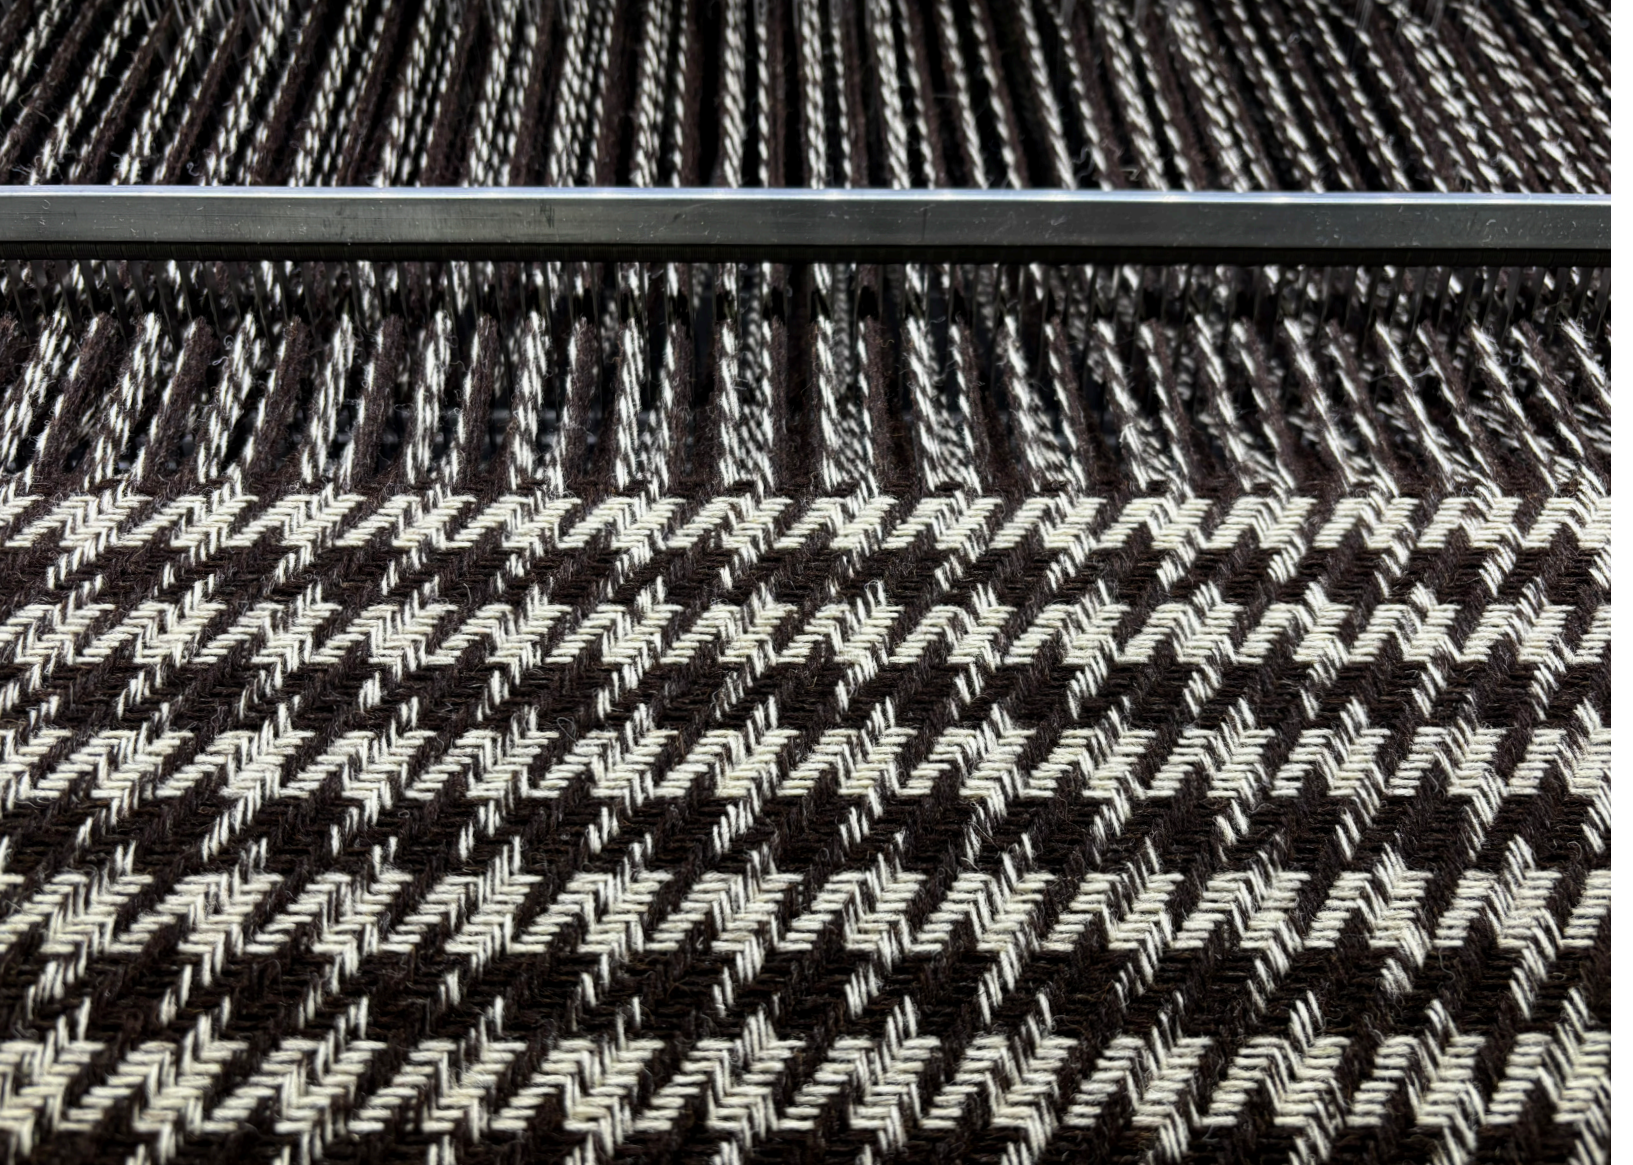

At Marton Mills, we understand the need for authenticity and transparency in the modern textile industry.

The bright colours of our Brimham quality not only bring visual vibrancy to our collection, but are also fully traceable back to the farms that produced the wool in each cloth.

Certified by British Wool, this farm traceability scheme provides complete assurance of provenance, authenticity and true sustainability. These farmers also recieve a premium top up payment for their wool over and above the auction price.

INGLETON

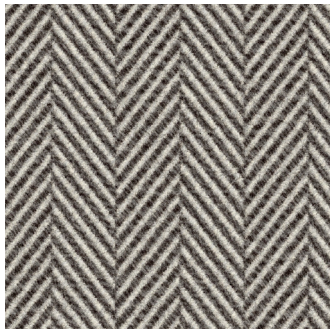

Ingleton is the heaviest of our British Wool qualities, using oversized patterns to celebrate the wide variety of undyed colours and textures found in British wool.

The collection uses predominantly undyed yarns, punctuated with flashes of timeless colours woven throughout. Overscaled patterns and textures echo the dramatic and cavernous landscapes that inspired its name.

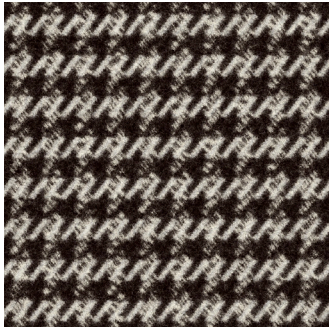

Ingleton turns British wool into a statement - powerful, modern and unmistakably rooted in the landscape that shaped it.
