THE BULLOCH COLLECTION STORY

The Bulloch Collection is my range of digitally printed textile designs. Each design is based on a land or seascape of my home, Isle of Bute, on the west coast of Scotland. The artwork is taken from original screen printed ink drawings by my childhood art teacher and family friend, Lyn Bulloch.

I share Lyn's love of the island's beauty and coupled with my passion for everything mid century always found Lyn's work inspirational and irresistible.

A light bulb moment came when reupholstering a customer's armchair in a bold contemporary but mid century style print. It put me in mind of Lyn's work and started me down the "ooh, what if..." path. Using photocopies of a couple of screen printed cards we had at home I began creating layouts on the living room floor.

An approach to the Bulloch family for permission to use Lyn's work was met with delight and so the design process began in earnest.

My Bulloch Collection textile designs feature repeats of the original ink sketches with swathes of vibrant colour. Some designs offer a never ending sea or sky with others depicting the images as tableaus, reminiscent of toile de jouy. Using both the original colours and introducing new colourways the textiles are evocative of vintage prints whilst being fresh and immediately appealing.

THE BULLOCH COLLECTION FABRIC DESIGNS

To date the Bulloch Collection has 4 designs:

'Waverley' (in original blue, pale grey, dark grey, navy & monochrome) – the iconic last seagoing paddle steamer in full steam on the Firth of Clyde.

10% of profits from sales of Waverley products are donated to PS Waverley toward ongoing maintenace and running costs.

'Sleeping Warrior' – a view of green rolling fields in the foreground with Arran's 'Sleeping Warrior' range of blue hills on the horizon.

The toile de jouy 'Dunagoil & Shore Road' – an ancient rocky cliff overlooking a bay in heathery purples and a residential road hugging the beach in pinks & reds.

And latest design 'Burnt Islands' – scene of the Kyles of Bute, a narrow stretch of sea with islets and pine trees in the foreground. In 2 colourways, Winter (olive & aqua) & Summer (pink & orange).

Burnt Islands

The designs are printed on base cloth of 100% organic cotton or linen union, both of which are suitable for a range of interior soft furnishings as well as, of course, upholstery!

Keeping the Island connection I have used Bute Fabric's wools on the cushion backing and/or piping, and in many of my bespoke reupholstered pieces.

THE BULLOCH COLLECTION PRODUCTS

The Bulloch Collection designs depict the original detailed ink sketches with their layers of screen printed colour in various layouts. The resulting new range of luxury artisanal products is small but growing including: Cushions, Cosmetic/Wash bags, Pencil/glasses Cases, Tea Towels, Napkins, Shoulder bags, Greeting Cards and Fabric by the metre.

We aim to offer a beautifully hand-created accent piece for your home.

All Bulloch Collection products have been designed, ethically sourced and Made in Scotland and the North of England.
