professionals, world-class knowledge
and countless development opportunities.

WHY JOIN CIBSE?

With over 20,000 members worldwide, CIBSE's members belong to a global network of professional support and expertise. Whether you are in the early stages of your career, are an established building services engineer, or are one of the many other professionals working to deliver excellence in the built environment, CIBSE is here for you.

FREE downloads of publications and guidance

Gain unlimited access to the CIBSE Knowledge Portal, where you'll find all the latest building services guidance and industry knowledge. This online portal contains hundreds of publications including the CIBSE Guides, our Digital Engineering Series and the SLL Lighting Handbook.

Stay in the know

Enjoy a free subscription to the CIBSE Journal, the leading monthly magazine for building services professionals. Get the latest industry news, technical articles and learning tools within the sector. You'll also receive our monthly newsletter and full access to all research in the Building Services Engineering / Lighting Research & Technology Journal too

Industry recognition

Work your way up through our membership grades to receive designatory CIBSE letters after your name. We also provide full support for our members to achieve Engineering Council registration at EngTech, IEng or CEng level.

Substantial discounts

Members receive preferential rates across all CIBSE training courses, online learning modules and CIBSE events. You'll also receive up to 50% off all hardcopy publications from CIBSE and other publishers.
