Session Title	Is the World on Track to Reach Net-Zero Emissions on Time?
Session Description	It is evident that the world is not on track to reach net-zero emissions on time to meet the ambitious climate targets set out in the Paris Agreement. The Paris Agreement aims to limit global warming to well below 2 degrees Celsius above pre-industrial levels and to pursue efforts to limit the temperature increase to 1.5 degrees Celsius.

	Achieving this requires global efforts to reach net-zero greenhouse gas emissions by mid-century. Many countries were not yet on track to meet their individual targets for emission reductions, and the collective efforts fell short of what was required to limit global temperature rise effectively.

Protocol Tips: Indonesia

As the liaison officer hosting the official delegation from Indonesia, you will require a high level of cultural sensitivity. Here are some important considerations to keep in mind:

Research and Preparation: You will find the biography of the leader of your delegation in this Handbook. Please feel free to research the delegation's background, including the individuals' positions and roles. Understanding their specific interests and objectives will help you tailor your interactions effectively.

Formal Greetings and Respect: Address delegation members using their appropriate titles and honorifics, especially if they hold titles like "Bapak" (Mr.) for men or "Ibu" (Mrs./Ms) for women. In Indonesian culture, handshakes are common but wait for delegation members to initiate. For women, a nod and a smile are generally accepted forms of greeting. Begin meetings with a warm welcome and expressions of gratitude for their visit.

Hierarchy and Titles: Indonesian society values hierarchy and age. Show respect for senior delegation members by acknowledging their status and age.

Dress Modestly: Dress in a professional, modest manner, especially if you're meeting delegation members of the opposite gender. Women should consider wearing loose-fitting, modest attire that covers the arms and legs.

Communication Style: Modesty in speech and gestures is highly valued, so avoid being too direct or confrontational. Indonesians value harmony and avoiding conflict. Maintain eye contact during conversations as a sign of engagement and respect. Use a gentle tone of voice and a friendly demeanor when communicating.

Business Etiquette: Be prepared for the possibility of lengthy initial social conversations before discussing business matters. Indonesians value building relationships and trust before engaging in business conversations.

Time Perception: Punctuality is appreciated but allow for some flexibility as time perception may vary. Be patient if schedules need adjustments or if meetings start slightly late.

Dining and Hospitality: Given that meals such as the opening ceremonies are part of the program, inquire about any dietary restrictions or preferences within the delegation. While dietary inquiries were made as part of the delegate registration process the information provided may be incomplete. Be prepared to guide delegation to halal options wherever possible. Please note that in most cases these will be the vegetarian option.

Privacy Concerns: Be cautious about taking photographs, especially of delegation members without their permission, as privacy is highly regarded.

Cultural Taboos: Pointing with the index finger is considered impolite. Instead, use your thumb or the right hand. Avoid touching people's heads, as it is believed to be the most sacred part of the body.

Language Tips

The official language of Indonesia is Bahasa Indonesia. Here are some common phrases that a Liaison Officer might find useful when interacting with Indonesians:

Hello - "Halo" or "Selamat pagi" (Good morning) / "Selamat siang" (Good afternoon) / "Selamat sore" (Good evening) / "Selamat malam" (Good night)

Welcome - "Selamat datang"

Please - "Silakan" or "Mohon"

Thank you - "Terima kasih"

Yes - "Ya"

No - "Tidak"

Goodbye - "Selamat tinggal" or "Sampai jumpa" (Until we meet again)
